About the property

What the owner's love:

We've been lucky enough to call this house our home through some of life's biggest milestones - having gotten engaged, married and welcomed both of our children here. It's a place that has provided such great memories.

The garden has been one of our favourite spots — whether enjoying a quiet morning coffee, watching the children play, hosting friends and firing up the barbecue. When the lavender and roses bloom, it feels especially magical.

The kitchen has been the real heart of the home, full of great memories and a wonderful space for entertaining. It gets great light throughout the day, especially in the mornings.

Being lovers of a good soak, the main bathroom and standalone bath has also been a great part of our time here. The additional bath to the children's en-suite has made family life that little bit easier.
