LITTLE CLEOBURY BARN
CLEOBURY LANE

Where rustic beams meet contemporary elegance, Little Cleobury Barn is a listed home of rare character. With vaulted ceilings, sunlit living spaces and beautifully curated interiors, it offers a lifestyle as charming as it is timeless.

LITTLE CLEOBURY BARN

This splendid Grade II listed, former barn and stables, blends 17th Century history with the comforts of modern living. Beyond its gated entrance lies a property filled with architectural drama and warmth: vaulted ceilings, exposed beams, and rooms that invite both family life and entertaining. From the moment you step into the galleried hallway, with its flagstone flooring and herringbone brickwork, you feel the blend of craftsmanship and creativity that defines this remarkable barn. Accommodation is versatile where every room carries its own character, blending comfort with heritage.

This is more than a barn conversion; it's a lifestyle home where history, elegance and comfort sit side by side all within strolling distance of the beautiful Earlswood Lakes.

Stepping into the reception hallway, you are immediately greeted by a sense of grandeur. The flagstone floor, herringbone brickwork and exposed beams rise dramatically to the vaulted ceiling above, drawing the eye to the galleried landing. The oak staircase, with its spindle balustrade and dog-leg turn, anchors the space in craftsmanship, while the cloakroom and storage discreetly serve the practicalities of everyday life.

The dining room, with its feature hearth, underfloor heating and oak floor, is an intimate yet impressive setting for dinner parties and family meals alike. The lounge offers a different mood: warm, inviting and perfect for evenings spent watching a movie. Oak doors and character beams frame each room, ensuring every space feels connected to the barn's heritage.

At the heart of the home, the breakfast kitchen brings light and life. Whisper grey hand-painted units and quartz worktops provide a timeless canvas, with a Belfast sink, breakfast bar and space for family dining. Exposed beams add drama, while the adjoining laundry room offers direct access to the courtyard garden.

At the far end of the property, the vaulted living room steals the show. Flooded with natural light from the full height doors and windows and dominated by its exposed trusses, it balances rustic character with contemporary scale. A gas-effect log burner creates an anchor point for the room, making it as suited to quiet evenings as lively gatherings.

Practical spaces flow seamlessly, with a study set opposite a ground-floor bedroom complete with fitted wardrobes. An inner lobby, also with built-in storage, leads to the shower room and staircase rising to the second bedroom, offering flexible accommodation that can adapt as guest quarters, a work-from-home space or a private retreat.

The first-floor galleried landing is a feature in itself, with exposed beams rising to a vaulted ceiling and views stretching across the reception hall. Comfortable seating and windows to both front and rear make this more than a passageway; it's a place to pause and take in the home's unique character.

The principal suite is a sanctuary. Skylight and oak-framed windows bathe the room in light, while beams and oak flooring reinforce the rustic charm. Stairs lead to the dressing room with additional fitted wardrobes, leading through to the completely refurbished bathroom. Here, a roll-top bath, tiled shower in soft pink tones and patterned flooring create a spa-like retreat — a place to unwind in absolute style.

Across the landing lies another bedroom, equally blessed with exposed beams, storage and garden views. Its refurbished en-suite provides convenience without compromising character.

A separate stairwell leads to a further bedroom, offering dual-aspect windows, oak flooring and bespoke wardrobes. The blend of light, storage and exposed timber makes it both practical and striking with space to serve as either a restful bedroom or an inspiring creative studio.

Together, the upstairs accommodation provides flexibility and individuality, ensuring every room has its own story to tell.

Set behind imposing electric gates, the grounds create a sense of privacy and arrival. Ample parking is available for up to 10 vehicles, with the practicality softened by careful landscaping. Willow-style fencing, newly planted shrubs and trees and thoughtfully placed patios combine to create a series of outdoor rooms. Whether you prefer to start the day with coffee in the morning sun, enjoy an afternoon with family on the lawns or retreat to a shaded terrace with a book, the gardens are designed to provide both beauty and versatility.

This is a garden that balances form and function, echoing the home itself — a space to gather, to relax and to enjoy the seasons.
